

FROZEN CREEK—Whatcom creek, the stream that flows through the city and back of the city hall was just as frozen Wednesday morning as the Nooksack river, reported as ice-covered. The creek, however, was running free to the air in several places.—Herald photo.